

When a disaster strikes, who will take care of them?

Bay Area D.A.R.T.

Every year, hurricanes, tornadoes, hazardous-materials incidents, floods, earthquakes, and other natural disasters threaten the animals who are so important to our lives. Get started in Bay Area Disaster Animal Response Team \(DART\), helping the animals in your community, and experience a great networking experience with others that share your love for animals.

How you can help

- Volunteer! Visit our website, www.BayAreaDART.org to find out how to become a DART volunteer or complete the attached Volunteer Roster.
- Donate! Preparing for a disaster and responding to one is expensive and requires a lot of resources. This requires us to be ready for any kind of disaster event and the special equipment that may be required.
- Prepare! Get your home, business, or farm ready for an emergency before by creating disaster preparedness kits and emergency plans for your family, pets, and other animals.
